Cookie Policy

A cookie is a small file which asks permission to be placed on your computer. Once you give your permission, the browser can retrieve that information whenever you visit the web page in question, and help the web application to tailor its operations to your needs and preferences. Cookies allow our website to remember your preferences and how you browse our website, and help us to improve our website and our services. We use cookies to enhance your navigation, personalize site navigation to improve your use of our website, and to assist in our marketing efforts. Some cookies may be necessary for you to use our website.

We use traffic log cookies to identify which pages are being used. This helps us analyse website usage trends, administer the website, improve our website, and improve our marketing efforts. These cookies do not store any personal information. We use cookies to improve our website by collecting and analysing how you use our website. We use cookies to enhance your navigation, personalize site navigation to improve your use of our website, and to assist in our marketing efforts. Some cookies may be necessary for you to use our website.

Overall, cookies help us provide you with a better website, by enabling us to improve our website and our services. We use cookies to enhance your navigation, personalize site navigation to improve your use of our website, and to assist in our marketing efforts. Some cookies may be necessary for you to use our website. A cookie in no way gives us access to your computer, and we do not store any sensitive information about you, other than the data you choose to share with us.

You can choose to accept or decline cookies. Most web browsers are set to accept cookies by default. If you prefer, you can usually modify your browser setting to decline cookies if you prefer. However, declining cookies may affect your use of our website and prevent you from taking full advantage of the website.
